Directions

By road

From the south via the M11

Exit the M11 at junction 14 and follow the signs towards A14 Ely and Newmarket (not A14 Huntingdon). Once on the A14, take the exit signposted A10 Ely. At the roundabout, turn right towards Cambridge along the A1309 Milton Road. Immediately after the roundabout filter left and take the first left turn, into Cowley Road, and then the first left again.

From the northwest via the A14 or from the west via the A428

From the east via the A14

From the north via the A10

From within Cambridge

Follow the signs towards Milton via the A1309. Immediately after you cross the disused railway line get into the right-hand lane. At the traffic lights (where the entrance to Cambridge Science Park is on your left) go straight ahead, then move into the extra lane on the right and turn right into Cowley Road, then take the first turning on the left.

By Train

Cambridge railway station has regular connections from London King's Cross, Liverpool Street, Stansted Airport, Peterborough, King's Lynn and Norwich. From the railway station, a taxi ride to St John's Innovation Centre normally takes 10-15 minutes.
